

Angus Child Protection Committee

Roles and Responsibilities and Interagency Working in the Protection of Children

This is a repeat of seminars held between 2006 and 2009.

Aims to:

- Explore with others, their role and responsibilities in relation to the protection of children.
- Develop an understanding of how children and young people who have been or are at risk of being abused or neglected are identified.
- Consider how to respond to concerns about a child or young person.
- Develop knowledge of what facilitates good interagency working with children, young people and their families.
- Reflect on both national and local issues that have come out of significant and initial case reviews.

Target Audience:

Staff working with children and their families, directly or indirectly, and involved in providing services to them alongside other professionals. This training is useful for staff who are either new in post, new to interagency working or as a refresher.

Details:

Thursday 11 November 2010	1.30 pm – 4.30 pm	Canmore Suite. Castle Street, Forfar
